BATTLE OF ADMIRALS

Schley-Sampson Feud Leads to Court.

SCHLEY DEMANDS INVESTIGATION

Admirals Dewey, Benham and Kimberley Will Sit in Judgment on Schley's Course.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Secretary Long, in accordance with a request from Admiral Schley, today advised that officer that he would order a court of inquiry to examine into the entire matter of Admiral Schley's course in the Santiago naval campaign. Later the Secretary announced that, owing to the extremely hot weather, the court would not meet until September, and that he would turn over his reception room to the court.

Admiral Schley's letter is as follows: GREAT NECK, L. I., N. Y., July 22, 1901.—Sir: Within the past few days a series of press comments have been sent to me from various parts of the country of a book entitled "The History of the Navy," written by one Edgar Stanton Maclay. From these reviews it appears that this editor is a third volume of the said history extended to include the late war with Spain, which the two first volumes did not contain, and were in use as textbooks at the Naval Academy.

Second—From excerpts quoted in some reviews, in which the page and paragraph are given, there is such perversion of facts, misconstruction of intention, such intemperate abuse and defamation of myself which subjects Mr. Maclay to action in civil law. While I admit the right of fair criticism of every public officer, I must protest against the low dings and abusive language of this violent, partisan opponent, who has infused into the pages of his book so much of the malice of unfairness as to make it unworthy the name of history or of use in any reputable institution of the country.

Third—I have refrained heretofore from all comment upon the numerous enemies muttered or murmured in secret, and, therefore, with safety to myself. I think the time has now come to take such action as may bring this entire matter under discussion under the clearer and calmer review of my brothers in arms, and to this end I ask such action at the hands of the department as it may deem best to accomplish this purpose.

Fourth—But I would express the request in this connection that whatever the action may be that it occur in Washington, where most of my papers and data are stored. Very respectfully,
W. S. SCHLEY.

Rear Admiral, U. S. N.

To the Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D. C.

Secretary Long replied to Admiral Schley as follows:

NAVY DEPARTMENT, Washington, D. C., July 24, 1901.—Sir: I am in receipt of yours of the 22d instant, with reference to the criticisms of you in connection with the Spanish-American war, and heartily approve of your action, under the circumstances, in asking at the hands of this department "such action as may bring this entire matter under discussion under the clearer and calmer review of my brothers in arms." The department will at once proceed in accordance with your request. Very respectfully,
JOHN D. LONG.

Rear Admiral W. S. Schley, U. S. N.

MEMBERS OF THE COURT.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The Board of Inquiry which is to investigate the controversial points in Admiral Schley's conduct during the Spanish war will be composed of Admiral Dewey, president of the court, and Rear Admirals Louis A. Kimberly and Andrew K. Benham. The court will meet at the Navy Department in Washington September 12th. Secretary Long announced these facts today. The precept to the court, which is being prepared by Captain Lemly, the Judge Advocate General, has not yet been completed. The scope of the inquiry will not be known until the precept and order for the convening of the court are issued. It is said that they will be promulgated by the Department tomorrow. Secretary Long says, however, that the proceedings of the court will be open and that the widest latitude will be permitted in the matter of witnesses, and that Rear Admiral Schley will be allowed to be represented by counsel. The Secretary had nothing to say about the composition of the court except that he thought it spoke for itself and to express the hope that the members chosen would be satisfactory to all concerned. He pointed out that none of the officers chosen had, so far as he knew, expressed an opinion concerning what is known as the Sampson-Schley controversy, and it was therefore to be presumed that they would enter upon their work in impartial and unprejudiced spirit. The members of the court are distinctly fighting men. Each has been connected with a celebrated event in Naval annals. Of Admiral Dewey, the hero of the battle of Manila Bay, it is unnecessary to speak. His record is familiar to all. His associates, Rear Admiral Kimberly and Rear Admiral Benham, are both retired officers.

The former was retired in 1892 and the latter in 1894. Admiral Kimberly

MRS. SAMUEL PARKER'S BODY IS NOW LYING IN STATE

The Late Mrs. Samuel Parker.

SURROUNDED by hundreds of those she loved, honored by the highest and lowliest of her native land, the remains of Mrs. Samuel Parker were returned to Hawaii by the steamer Peru yesterday morning. The ship came to port with flags at half-mast. On the dock were gathered many friends, but they did not exceed the humblest of the workers on the docks, in their display of emotion. When the vessel had come to the dock, the members of the party boarded the ship to express their sympathy to Colonel Parker and his sons, Ernest and James, who accompanied him.

While the condolences were being said, the dock-hands showed their love for the departed. Every man stopped work, and with bared heads a sextet of them went on board the ship and carried the remains of their friend ashore. More than that, they asked that they be allowed to carry the casket to the family home, and only the fact that other arrangements had been made prevented this touching tribute to her memory being paid. As it was the remains were placed in a waiting conveyance and taken to the King street house, where the body will lie in state until Tuesday next, when the funeral party will go to Mana in the Kinau, the internment taking place there.

Among those who awaited the arrival of the steamer were Carl Widemann and Frank C. Woods, sons-in-law of the deceased; Delegate R. W. Wilcox, Prince David Kawanakoa, Senator Kalaokalani and others of the most prominent Hawaiians of the city. A large percentage of those who thronged the wharf were personal friends of the family, and their grief seemed most sincere.

Colonel Parker and his two sons, who had accompanied the remains from New York, did not appear until the body had been removed. Colonel Parker shows the effects of his sorrow and seems to have aged perceptibly. The young men supported him to a carriage and he was driven immediately to his home.

The casket was placed in the parlor to the right, and was covered with yellow leis and malle. There were rows of kahilis and over the bier a kahili was waved. Apart from these there was no evidence of the old customs. There was a profusion of floral offerings and these continued to arrive all evening. There will be a service at the house arranged later. Soon after the disposition of the casket had been made Colonel Parker and his sons retired to rest after their long journey from New York.

was taken from similar proclamations issued in Chicago and New York, and if there is danger in the East from such practices the precaution is doubly important in Honolulu, where the natives are prone to indiscriminate kissing.

"Tuberculosis can be more easily contracted by contact of the lips than in any other way; even than to have an afflicted person expectorate upon another. As soon as the spitte dries, the bacilli are loosened, and are as dangerous as the dried germs which are floating about in the air. I believe the risk of such a thing will work a great deal of harm, as the people will pay no attention to the order of the Board of Health. This circular is a very important one, and should be heeded, and the section relating to indiscriminate kissing is one of its most important parts."

Inquiry at the drug stores showed that there had been no pressing demand for carbolic rose-water except among the schoolmarms en route to Manila. On finding that the ship's surgeon had none in stock the drug stores got a show and enough rose-water was sold to last through the matrimonial epidemic now raging on board the transport until Manila shall have been reached. Several schoolmarms thought they preferred sulphur soap because it was cheaper, though three or four timid old things took a solution of coppers and one of them got a bottle of Rough on Cockroaches to use in case she were driven to accept the attentions of a Filipino.

Whether there is likely to be any general use of these remedies in Honolulu is not yet known. Several experts were seen but they threw no light on the situation. Chester Doyle said he was satisfied to take 'em as they came and should not insist on rose-water in his. Bert Peterson was agitated at the idea of using anything except coconut oil. Bonny Monsarrat said that he was sure he could detect the presence of the disease in time to escape infection. Several well-known men about town refused to be interviewed. Sweetie Smith and Sweet Amalia said they were not receiving and warned the reporter away.

THE CARBOLIZED KISS DEFENDED

Dr. Pratt Stands by His Great Remedy—Views of Experts.

The circular issued yesterday by the Board of Health relative to the dangers of tuberculosis, and incidentally of kissing without a careful application of carbolic rose-water, has already been the subject of considerable comment. The physicians generally approve the effort of the Board and think the warning a timely one. Speaking of the paragraph relative to osculation, Executive Officer Pratt of the Board of Health said yesterday:

"I do not think this a subject for ridicule. The section relating to kissing

MANY WANT RATES CUT

Appeals From New Assessment Made.

THE Tax Appeal Court was organized yesterday at the office of Mr. C. Bolte, one of its members, in Merchant street, and plans made for getting down to business at once. Pursuant to the plans agreed to, the first regular meeting of the board will be held Monday afternoon, the session beginning at 1:30 o'clock. The court will sit in an improvised room, screened off from the Ewa hallway of the courthouse, so that the records which will be called into evidence may be close at hand.

Judge Wilcox presided at the session of the court, the other members, Mr. C. Bolte and E. C. Winston being present. In addition, Treasurer Wright, Tax Assessor Pratt and Attorney W. O. Smith were in attendance. Mr. Smith is the attorney for the tax assessor, and was heard in the making of arrangements for the conduct of the business of the body. He made the suggestion as to the location of the court, saying that there would perhaps be appeals from the decisions of the court, which would necessitate the making up of a record for the Supreme Court, and so there should be introduced the original documents, from which the evidence upon which the assessments were made, was drawn. This could be done with rapidity if the court sat at a convenient distance from the offices of the assessor and register, where the papers are held. He advised that some report be made of the evidence offered so that the record which is sent up may be complete.

Assessor Pratt said that there would be necessary a cart load of books in the presentation of the cases, and that it would be wise to hold the sessions where there would be as little delay as possible. As to the meeting place, he said there would be all the necessary supplies on hand, with tables and desks, and the screening off of the room one where there would be few interruptions. Mr. Bolte said he had thought there would be little necessary beside a map of Honolulu, and that his office could be used, but he was ready to agree to the location. On motion of Mr. Winston the hall was agreed to as a meeting place, and the time set for the sittings to commence, at Monday.

Upon the suggestion of Mr. Smith it was decided that notice should be given to all persons who had perfected an appeal to the court, to be present at the time and place mentioned, so that there would be noted the representative of each appellant, and the court would be able to know who was to appear before it. Assessor Pratt said that there were five cases ready for the consideration of the court, in so far as the tax office was concerned. These are the following: The estate of A. A. Carnot, M. S. Grinbaum & Co., Mrs. F. G. Bickerton, Lady Mary H. Graeme and Mrs. A. Gray. Of these the second named is for marriage, the others being for real estate assessments. It was the decision of the court that the five cases should be called upon the completion of the call of the calendar, and that notice should be given then as to other cases in which the government was ready to appear.

Judge Stanley appeared for several of the persons and estates which have made appeals, and said that he would be ready upon proper notice to go on with the matters in which he was to take part. Mr. Smith informed the court that he would not appear in the matter of the Bishop Estate, as he is one of the trustees.

The assessor had with him the list of the appellants and the data as to the previous assessments, the amounts of present valuation, and the sum appealed from by the owner. The list contains the names of eighty-nine persons and firms, but the assessor stated that he had hopes of speedy settlement in many cases. In the matter of Mr. Magoon, he said, the attorney was absent from the city, and his representative, Mr. Wundenburg, had filed the appeals for the purpose of protecting any rights his principal might wish to exercise. In other cases the expectation of the assessor was that there would be no objection made when due consideration was given. The appeals run all the way from $1,000 to $500,000, as in the case of the Ewa Plantation Company.

A Chinese Wedding.

An interesting event was the marriage of Sum Chin Chin, a young Chinese clerk, to Miss Asen, a stepdaughter of L. Asen, who is well known in this city. The wedding took place at St. Peter's Chapel, adjoining St. Andrew's Cathedral, at 2 o'clock p. m. Rev. V. H. Kiteat performing the ceremony according to the rites of the Episcopal church, assisted by the pastor of St. Peter's, Rev. Kay Yok Set, a brother of the bride. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion, and a large number of friends witnessed the marriage.

A SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT.

"Do you think it is possible to kill mosquitoes with kerosene?" asked the man who doubts what he reads. "Oh, yes," answered the friend. "I have performed the experiment with entire success. I poured some kerosene around the house when it was full of mosquitoes. Then some one inadvertently dropped a lighted match. It was a trifle expensive, but I have every reason to believe a great many mosquitoes were killed."

MINUTE CAUTION.

"Every woman ought to know something about cooking," said the wise girl. "I don't know about that," answered Miss Cayenne. "In case of incompatibility it gives the husband a chance to blame her for his dyspepsia."
